

Learn to write your own introduction.

An introduction is an important part of your presentation. A good speaker always writes their own introduction. Use these elements - you can organize them in any order:

Who are you? (What gives you the right to be delivering this presentation? Is it your educational background, experiences, or accomplishments.)

What will you be speaking about? (What is the topic?)

Why is the presentation important to the audience and what is in it for them?
